YESTERDAY

The present subsists on the strength of the past, and Sewanee preserves the ideals of her past in a vision which never changes as year succeeds to year. Tomorrow will bring another Sewanee, but the dream will remain unmarred. It is alive today and tomorrow: a Christian, Southern institution where true learning dwells and "peace is wisdom's guest." However, this vision is of little value if buried in the mind, for an ideal must be seeded in rich soil so that it will take root and grow in strength. The roots of Sewanee lie deep in a fertile land. Born in the hearts and souls of great Christians, her birthmark of enduring mountain stone is planted in the soil of Church and State. A building incorporating a body of spiritual leadership provides Christian principles of timeless trust. An implicit way of life close to the earth preserves a society of gentlemanly conduct. The vision of greatness is a living presence grounded in the heritage of Christian gentlemen. Sewanee's yesterday is the strength of her today.

TODAY

Though Sewanee's ideals are unchanging, the people and places, modes and manners, must adapt to the aspects of human experience which are transitory. While the aim must always be focused on the immutable goal, the attention must turn likewise to that which distinctly belongs to the Sewanee of today, of this time. Here, the physical body is given the opportunity to burn its youthful energy in efforts to realize itself, its sensations, and its innate aspirations. The Sewanee of today is one of humanistic activity wherein the restless student reaches out to understand. The mind, being molded by the sound discipline of watchful teachers, guides the hand through the wisdom of the ages. With the laying out of the uncompleted scheme of man's knowledge, the place hopes to implement the idea: to educate Christian gentlemen in a manner which will best enable them to contribute constructively in the tempered fulness of the human endeavor. This purpose is precipitated through the harmonious blending of body, mind, and spirit in the truly classical tradition. Though this was true of yesterday, as it will hopefully be true of tomorrow, the people who direct and shape the process of learning today are distinctly of this time. The discriminating person appreciates Sewanee for the people with whom he has played and learned and prayed, an experience of individual quality.

TOMORROW

The hopes of tomorrow are fulfilled in the labors of today.

The labours of today are grounded in the strength of the past, and the vision of tomorrow is the vision of yesterday. But a vision exists that it may be realized, that it may be built into people and places. The thoughts of tomorrow are thoughts of building today. And today, in her second golden period of opportunity, Sewanee is building with hearts and minds and hands for her sons of tomorrow. The measure of her greatness is the progressive growth maintained within the ideal which is at once her guide and her goal. Perhaps the future will not bring the realization of that goal, but tomorrow will bring a deeper progression toward the fulfillment of the ideal. That ideal is, in its simplest expression, the education of Christian gentlemen under the best direction with the best facilities. The guiding light of her vision will bring a stronger and larger institution of people and places. Tangibly, Sewanee will be different in size and strength, but essentially, in the shadow of her noble dream, she will remain unchanged. With her roots in the past, Sewanee is building for a vision of tomorrow, and as perfection can never be attained, this building will have no end.

YESTERDAY

The reflection on Sewanee's inspires a pose of security and trust. The gentleman respects and cherishes a past versed in ideals born in and from a bold heritage. "Noble in Every Thought and Deed," the education of a gentleman permeates below the surface to the permanent formulation of enduring character. The formal substance of Sewanee's gift is founded in the core of a time-honoured standard of conduct.

The full impact of Sewanee's landscape witnesses the underlying quality of her strength. The spired bulwark of the mountain scene presents the imposing image of a solid cast, outwardly suggesting the inward depth of her foundation. An institution is both a place and a spirit. The quality of knowledge integral to the Sewanee spirit is evidenced by the place in which it dwells, a place and a spirit fostered in the fortress of the past.

An institution will never fulfill its intended function unless it is provided with teachers dedicated to the ideals to which it aspires. Sewanee's history is characterized by the quality of men who have given their lives to serve as unselfish and devoted sowers of true wisdom's seed. The hope of the founders foretells the sacrificial gift of an unbroken succession of servants, a gift entrusted from generation to generation.

The purpose of education is not merely to reproduce or to imitate. Stagnancy in knowledge results from a repetition of theories and principles. A truly growing center of learning includes ample opportunity for the imaginative creation in artistic form. The Sewanee Review, America's oldest literary quarterly, stands as a mark for the maturity of age as well as the exemplar of Sewanee's continued emphasis on artistic achievement.

A glance at the past reveals more than a cursory interest in competitive recreation. The classical conception of a complete education insists upon the mutual dependence of a healthy body and mind. Sewanee has always met that criterion in the grandest of fashions. Wholesome games form an unforgettable part of the memory of times past.

The Sewanee of yesterday was the scene of formulating the qualities which she exhibits today. The vision of the founders was to establish the tradition of true learning nurtured through sound instruction in an atmosphere of artistic creation and constructive competition. Yesterday has invested itself with the due authority of a traditional grandeur—noble ideals and manifest excellence.

What is a university but the lengthened shadow of her men?

The memory of Sewanee today might well involve an external picture of the Mountain scene: the winter blue sky fading to the sunset valley below, the towered splendour of her buildings, the green valley strewn with daffodils of spring. The image of Sewanee easily conforms to the attraction of her visible charm.

What is a university but the lengthened shadow of her men? Though the appearance of an institution indicates the quality and strength of her intent, the people who build and sustain her vision form the greater part of the memory of her gift. Sewanee abounds in the cultivation of personal relationships providing an integrated educational experience for TODAY and lasting friendships for tomorrow.

The classroom combines the desire of willing student with the direction of concerned teacher. Sewanee is distinct in the organic framework that she maintains in which instructor and pupil are endowed with the full fruition of the educational process. Today is discriminated from tomorrow and yesterday by the intimate response of the teachers and fellow students sharing in these times.

Beyond the classroom is the chaplain and his chapel. Sewanee today presents a controversial stage in the assessment of the spiritual force which is her stability. Within this realm of academic dissention the university, nevertheless, continues to proclaim and support the ideals of enlightened Christian understanding instituted by the founders. Sewanee is still today a Christian university resting her cause on the permanence of ageless truths while humbly tolerating dissent amidst a freethinking environment.

The classroom and the chapel are surrounded by a community integrally related to the life and work of the university. Miss Clara is a fitting representative of the close, enduring ties which exist between the student and his social setting. Much of the fond memory of the graduate is centered around the pleasant pastime of village joys.

The people who live in Sewanee, students, teachers, commons, distinguish her today. While the vision and its foundation never change, the people who sustain the vision fade. The people who preserve Sewanee today will vanish tomorrow. The memory of this day is the memory of those who saw and made it.

As the sun rises on another day, the eye is turned toward the future and the new ascendancy to which Sewanee climbs. The thoughts of TOMORROW are centered in the building of today. For the first time in the history of the University, the dream of the founders seems conceivable in contrast to the imagined speculation of the past. Though the culture of the Christian gentleman, as an ideal, is never perfectly realized, the hope for a physical plant with the most recent and effective educational facilities is progressing in the direction of substantial fulfillment. The great university of tomorrow is no longer a distant myth, for the foundation of the dream is recognizably laid in the labors of today.

Ten million dollars and a new library and, suddenly, a new college—more money and more building. From the drawing board to the artisan and emerging finally as a monument of careful planning and intricate workmanship, the Sewanee scene is one of rapid transition. It is certain that tomorrow will bring with it new customs and manners. The pace of progress involves the laying aside of outmoded usage. Yet one can be sure that Sewanee still will maintain the touch of her essential greatness, immutable through fading years. Indeed, change is meaningless without a changeless standard whereby to measure growth. The Sewanee of tomorrow will be different, but only in a respect which will continue to demand the shameless pride of all those who have known her in times gone by.

For the last decade the master builder of Sewanee's future as well as the custodian of her ordered transition has been her Vice-Chancellor. A man of insight, precision, action, he has devoted the vast store of his varied talents to the stable formation of today's College and the planned construction of tomorrow's University. Dr. McCrady serves as the exemplar of many who work and give daily for the strength of Sewanee's future.

The secret of Sewanee's greatness lies in the continuity which she preserves. Guided in the roots of the past, sustained in the growing pains of present transition, she looks to a future brightened by a sense of direction and purpose. Tomorrow is built through a succession of constructive todays linked by a common bond to the noble vision of a living tradition. The thought of tomorrow is one of seasoned anticipation.

DEDICATION

“The dominant trait of this mind,” writes W. J. Cash in The Mind of the South, “was an intense individualism—in its way perhaps the most intense individualism the world has ever seen since the Italian Renaissance.”

About twenty-five years ago a young scholar came to The University of the South, bringing with him a record of academic achievement marked by excellence. He had studied English at Princeton University and, on a Rhodes Scholarship, at Oxford University. It was his third year at Oxford which was to mark for Sewanee a significant transition. After having developed a knowledge of the choicest literature in the world, he pursued at Oxford the study of another facet of man’s expression: power. With this background, he was asked in 1940 to join the Sewanee faculty. He did.

We know him primarily as a teacher and scholar whose lectures reflect a seriousness of study and whose sense of humor makes us appreciate both man’s grandeur and man’s foibles. Likewise though, he plays the organ, is a bank director, enjoys spotting new cars on the Mountain, is a railroad bug, formerly played tennis, and likes to take walks with his wife, Tempe.

The 1964 CAP AND GOWN dedicates its pages to Arthur Butler Dugan.

A TOWERED

Benedict: night and light.

Sewanee exists in and of herself, and she exists in many people, striking them with her light and thereby catching a reflection hitherto unknown or unseen.

I wandered back for that fourth and final year at Sewanee and first of the sounds and sensations which greeted me were Breslin's chimes, piercing the stillness of the night in which I had arrived and startling me. However, I knew I was home for the sounds were as pleasant as a familiar voice calling out in a different way. The night again became quiet. These moments were mine and I hated to let them go, but finally yielding to the thought of being able to see old friends in the morning, I gained a place to sleep.

While they were coming back that morning, I found myself likening them to a silver rain which forms itself in individual drops, taking its allotted time before realizing its full dynamic nature. The early morning trickle had become heavier by mid-afternoon but still remained gentle. But in those hours that mid-afternoon brought I found enough familiarity to enable me to quell for the moment my desire to think more about the place and my commitment thereto. By nightfall Sewanee was filled with returned students—students breathing a fresher air and intimately sharing the events of the summer and the possibilities for the new year.

I have sometimes been not quite sure what there is about Sewanee, but I have never regretted my having come. I could wish that I were able to say that I had already imagined the challenge and intensity of the experience, but I find that I must rely on the words of Descartes when he said: ". . . I do not hesitate to claim the good fortune of having stumbled in my youth, upon paths which led me to certain considerations and maxims from which I formed a method of gradually increasing my knowledge and of improving my abilities as much as the mediocrity of my talents and the shortness of my life will permit."

But the thought—Sewanee—lingered on. I have wondered about the people and about Sewanee, and I recall having talked to a fellow about the life there. He said, "If you want to know about Sewanee, ask the people who work there, teach there, study there. Let them talk about themselves. What will they reveal of their nature? A unique and distinct group, like no other? Well, in a way; you will find that they

Yes, I suppose that that is Sewanee. I did come and I have passed four years there. Certainly you can live a lifetime in four years. And in the years to come those years will be ever alive in the am of what was.

As another said to me, "You should be grateful. You should be grateful for the spring and for the daffodils in the meadows, green stems with white cups. It was the morning of your lifetime when you were young and new for understanding."

The Board of Regents, which is elected by the Board of Trustees, is the executive board of the University. It is composed of three bishops, three priests, and six laymen of the Episcopal Church. The Chancellor and the Vice-Chancellor serve as ex-officio members. This board has all the powers of maintenance and government of the University except those particularly reserved by the Board of Trustees. The Regents also have the power to grant honorary degrees. It holds its regular meetings at Sewanee three times a year.

A major step forward in the physical expansion of the University was taken with the Ford Foundation offer of 2.5 million dollars. This must be matched by 7.5 million dollars raised by the University. The campaign objectives are numerous, among them being an increase in the permanent endowment, a new library, faculty housing, and new dormitories. These are the most pressing of a list of ten-year requirements totaling some 19 million dollars. The Ten Million Dollar Campaign will terminate on September 1, 1965, although the University will continue to raise funds in its drive for 19 million dollars.

Under the leadership of the co-chairmen, the seven member executive committee and the fifty member national committee have launched the largest campaign of the University. Success will come through the efforts of alumni and other friends who want to see Sewanee maintain and improve its present standard of excellence.

SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY

The Very Reverend George M. Alexander, Dean of the School of Theology.

The School of Theology, a seminary of the Episcopal Church, was established in 1878 as a constituent college of the University of the South and the early histories of the two colleges are very much the same. The School of Theology is known to the students as St. Luke's. The Vice-Chancellor and Provost serve both colleges; the School of Theology has its own faculty and Dean.

The present Dean, the Very Reverend George Moyer Alexander, was appointed in 1956. He received Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Divinity, and Master of Sacred Theology degrees from the University of the South, and his Doctor of Divinity degree from Virginia Theological Seminary. He has also received the degree of Doctor of Sacred Theology from Seabury-Western. Dean Alexander is currently on sabbatical in England.

FRATERNITIES

PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL

The Pan-Hellenic Council, a standing committee of the Order of Gownsmen, effects a liaison between fraternities and the administration and governs relations among the various chapters. Its membership consists of the president and one other member from each fraternity and the Association of Independent Men.

The Council regulates the activities of the chapters in the vital areas of Rush Week and pledge training. It is responsible for determining and supervising the execution of rush rules; it oversees the actions of fraternities during the rush period and hears cases involving any infringement of the Pan-Hellenic Constitution. The Council also establishes the standards for fraternity pledge programs. It rules on petitions to charter new fraternities at Sewanee and submits these rulings to the administration in the form of recommendations. It may pass proposals concerning fraternity life in general for consideration by University officials and the Dean of Men.

More informally, the Council serves as a valuable forum for the exchange of ideas and the discussion of issues and conflicts that may arise from fraternity life. Such discussion facilitates a smooth running system with a minimum of problems.

THE SEWANEE FRATERNITY SYSTEM

A few songs and refreshments at a fraternity Christmas tea.

From its earliest days Sewanee has fostered Greek-letter groups. Sigma Epsilon and Pi Omega were founded in 1869 and 1870 as literary and social clubs, though records show they were more forensic than scholarly. Before the turn of the century eight national social fraternities founded chapters here. Five of these erected the oldest chapter houses in their national fraternities, among them ATO, Kappa Sigma, Phi Delta Theta, SAE, and Pi Kappa Alpha (now dormant). The twentieth century has brought three more chapters still on the campus, the latest of these being Lambda Chi Alpha.

Fraternities at Sewanee are not clannish, but there is a natural pride within each group. On Party Weekends the chapter houses are open to all students and their dates. The intramural sports program fosters friendly, rugged, but never bitter competition among the various chapters. The athletic side is balanced, however, with the academic. All chapters maintain scholarship programs for their pledges. The local chapter of Phi Beta Kappa awards a Scholarship Trophy to the fraternity having the highest scholastic average each semester. This award is as much sought after as the Intramural Sports Trophy.

In February, 1964, a group of eleven non-fraternity men petitioned the Pan-Hellenic Council for permission to become a colony of the Chi Psi Fraternity. When these men receive their charter, they will be known as the Alpha Tau Delta of Chi Psi.

ALPHA TAU OMEGA

The Tennessee Omega Chapter will celebrate its eighty-seventh anniversary on August 14, 1964. From its inception in 1877 to the present day, the Alpha Taus have led the way in school and fraternity fields.

Initially, fraternities were unwelcomed by University officials. This necessitated the group meeting sub rosa. The original chapter consisted of only fourteen men, smaller than our present pledge class.

From its small but dedicated beginning, the chapter reached many milestones in the Greek world. Omega was the first fraternity in the South to own its house and the first ATO chapter in the nation, having its lease dated July 1, 1880, in the University archives. It is, no doubt, one of the few fraternities to have a book written about it: Tennessee Omega of Alpha Tau Omega by the Rev. Charles L. Widney traces the first fifty years of the fraternity from 1877 to 1927.

Scholarship has always been a strong characteristic of Tennessee Omega. The chapter furnished four of the five graduates in the 1880 commencement while today's news points to three winners of Woodrow Wilson Fellowships.

If one were to trace the names of those who have gone through the Propylon, the names of many bishops, five of the eleven vice-chancellors, two of the fourteen chancellors, a United States senator, newspaper editors, many ministers, and various other prominent men would appear.

BETA THETA PI

ROBERT DAVIS
First Semester President

MORTON WEBB, JR.
Second Semester President

At nine o'clock in the evening of the eighth day of the eighth month of the year 1839, eight earnest young men, all students of Miami University of Ohio, held the first regular meeting of Beta Theta Pi, in the hall of the Union Literary Society. This group of brothers, Knox, Marshall, Linton, Smith, Hardin, Duncan, Ryan, and Gordon recognized the value of intellectual attainment and clearly stated that a devotion to the cultivation of the intellect was one of the foundation stones on which they proposed to build a fraternity. This prominent ideal has been followed in Beta Theta Pi by its 30,000 members. Mutual assistance in the honorable labors and aspirations of life, unsullied friendship and unfaltering fidelity are the standards that are expounded in the traditions of Beta Theta Pi.

Being the sixth fraternity in the order of founding, Beta Theta Pi was the first fraternity to originate west of the Allegheny Mountains. It developed with the enthusiasm, courage, hope, forward view, and determination which is characteristic of the country in which it was founded. With a desire to be widely represented in all sections of the country, Beta Theta Pi, unlike organizations based on sectional traditions, was the first to adopt a truly national point of view.

In the year 1949, the Gamma Chi chapter was founded at the University of the South. In 1958, after having a chapter house on the site of the duPont Library, the chapter had a new house built on the east end of the community. The house was constructed in ranch-style architecture.

The Gamma Chi chapter maintains a creditable reputation for promoting and keeping a well-rounded membership. Its members are recognized in athletic as well as in academic achievements. This combination of scholastic endeavor and prominence in athletics is in keeping with the wishes and ambitions with which Beta Theta Pi was founded.

DELTA TAU DELTA

STEVE WALKER
First Semester President

STEVE JACKSON
First Semester Vice-President

Delta Tau Delta was founded in 1858 at Bethany College, Va. (now W. Va.) In 1886, Delta Tau Delta admitted into its brotherhood, as a unit, the exclusive Rainbow Society, a spirited Southern society founded at Ole Miss in 1848. Since then the National Fraternity has grown to 89 active chapters and 77 alumni chapters.

Sewanee's chapter, Beta Theta, was established at the University on June 23, 1883. The House presently occupied by the chapter was built in 1904, remodeled in the 1920's and again in the spring of 1960. Since its establishment the chapter has produced such men as the Rev. Hudson Stuck, famous Sewanee alumnus, Dudley Gale, donor of the Polk Carillon, El Señor William Lewis, Professor Emeritus of Spanish at the University, and the Rt. Rev. Frank A. Juhan, D.D., retired bishop of Florida, retired Chancellor and Regent, and presently a member of the Board of Trustees. He is also Director of Development, Chairman of the $10 Million Ford Drive, and the Chapter Advisor.

Beta Theta has been on the up-swing in the last few years. This is especially evident in athletics. At this writing, we have scored points in every intramural sport, including firsts in swimming, cross-country, and handball, and an overall first in the point standings. Positive personal influence on campus is given on all levels—from Jack Sanders, chapter President, junior proctor, junior Phi Beta Kappa and football letterman, down to neophyte Pete Cavert, Student Vestry Representative of the freshman class.

KAPPA ALPHA

STUART McDANIEL
First Semester President

CLAUDE SULLIVAN
Second Semester President

Kappa Alpha Order was born at Washington College, now Washington and Lee University, at Lexington, Virginia, on December 21, 1865. It grew into a fraternity through the oaths of James Ward Wood, his friends and fellow students: William Nelson Scott and Stanhope McClellan Scott of Lexington, Va., and William Archibald Walsh of Richmond, Va.

Kappa Alpha is widely known. Wherever known, it is rightly associated with Robert E. Lee, who inspired men to cherish the ideal of character and perpetuate the ideal of the Gentleman. Of these ideals, Robert E. Lee is the perfect expression. He had pride without vanity. He was great in mind, great in heart, will power, and character. Emerson said this of Robert E. Lee: "We sometimes meet an original gentleman, who, if manners had not existed, would have invented them." Kappa Alpha seeks to make a permanent contribution to strong, clean, useful manhood by inculcating in young men those gifts and graces and virtues that shone so brightly in the life of Robert E. Lee.

Kappa Alpha is a way of life. Its influence cannot be weighed or measured or analyzed; but, for its members, there is nothing more substantial, nothing more real, than the vows they have taken, the precepts which have become a part of their very souls.

Alpha Alpha Chapter of the Order was founded at Sewanee eighteen years after the national founding, in December, 1883. The last five years have been one of the most flourishing epochs of the chapter's eighty-year history. Kappa Alpha at Sewanee boasts many University leaders in scholarships, student government, athletics, publications, and dramatics. With secure records of success in the past, Kappa Alpha looks forward to a promising future on the Mountain.

KAPPA SIGMA

JAMES PRICE
First Semester President

JOSEPH WINKELMAN
Second Semester President

Steeped in the venerable traditions of an ancient Italian protective society, Kappa Sigma was established in the United States at the University of Virginia on December 10, 1869, by Brothers McCormick, Rogers, Nicodemus, Boyd, and Arnold. Although the honor for the formal establishment must be given to these five young men only, their place in history must be shared with one of their first initiates, Stephen Alonzo Jackson, without whom the early growth and expansion of Kappa Sigma would have been possible.

The unique spirit of Kappa Sigma seems to have been indigenous to the Reconstruction of the South, for the fraternity expanded with meteoric speed during the first fifteen years after its settlement. The Omega chapter, chartered in 1881, was the seventeenth chapter in the South, and the first to own a house which was entirely the property of the chapter.

The fraternal spirit and ideals of Kappa Sigma combined with the intellectual preparation of the University of the South have enabled the Omega Chapter to claim as alumni six Episcopal bishops; the present chancellor of the University of Texas; an admiral; and Kappa Sigma's first Rhodes Scholar.

Good fellows, good company, good manners, good morals, and bright minds full of spirit, and all in for a good time, was one of the founder's characterization of his four fraternity brothers. His words now describe thousands of Kappa Sigmas. Those characteristics can be found embodied most noticeably in the personalities of the brothers of the Omega chapter of the Kappa Sigma Fraternity.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

MICHAEL THOMASON
First Semester President

HOWARD MAULL
First Semester Vice-President

The Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity was founded at Boston University in 1909, and since that time it has grown to be the third largest of North American fraternities. The Sewanee chapter had its beginning with the founding of Upsilon Sigma local fraternity on February 3, 1961. Just two years later a charter was granted, and the colony became Iota-Nu Zeta on April 6, 1963, culminating the effort of the fourteen original members.

The fall of 1963 saw the completion of the chapter's new lodge. Designed by William B. Campbell of the history department, the modern structure is ideally located on Mitchell Avenue.

The addition of an excellent pledge class last fall raised the chapter membership to 48 men. The last of the original members will graduate this year, leaving behind them the foundation of a growing fraternity which has, in three years, achieved a truly competitive position in Sewanee's Greek system.

The Sewanee chapter has excelled in scholarship, and is represented in every intramural sport. The chapter upholds the fine traditions of the school and strives to keep the perfection of the Sewanee Gentleman.

PHI DELTA THETA

JOHN HAGLER
First Semester President

DAVID SPEIGHTS
Second Semester President

Phi Delta Theta was founded on December 26, 1843, at Miami University, by Brothers Morrison, Wilson, Drake, Rodgers, Lindley, and Rogers. The fraternity's purpose is multifold: the cultivation of fellowship, the acquisition of mental culture, and the development of a personal standard of morality. It provides the balance between conflicting ideals, that must permeate an atmosphere of brotherhood, that fosters growth into manhood.

Tennessee Beta was recognized by the National Headquarters in March, 1883. Plans for a house were considered in the fall of 1884 and one was erected that year. The Sewanee Phis thus became one of the first fraternities in the South, and the first Phi chapter, to build its own house. In 1907, work began on the Castle, which was modeled after Founders' Tower, Oxford.

In scholarship, the Phis, supported by three members of Phi Beta Kappa, have been high on campus for three of the past four semesters. In intramurals, the Phis have won the intramural school trophy for two of the last three years, including 1963, and consistently enter strong teams in all sports. The Phis have also won the Blue Key Sing trophy for the last three years. In varsity athletics, there are Phis participating in all sports, including the captain of the swimming team, a starting forward in basketball, an SEC wrestling champion, three swimming record holders, and two track record holders.

In campus activities, Phis hold these positions and honors: chairman of the Honor Council, secretary of the Order of Gownsmen, proctor, three members of Who's Who, president of the Pan-Hellenic Council, president of Blue Key, members of Omicron Delta Kappa, three Phi Beta Kappas, past editor of the Purple, Fire Chief, Head Waiter, president of Green Ribbon Society, president of the German Club, and members of the Red Ribbon Society, Pi Gamma Mu, Pi Sigma Alpha, the Publications Board, the Discipline Committee, the Jazz Society, and Arnold Air Society.

The Sewanee Phis are also current holders of the Herrick trophy, presented by the fraternity's National Convention, symbolic of academic excellence.

PHI GAMMA DELTA

ED TAYLOR
First Semester President

ROBIN GARDNER
First Semester Corresponding Secretary

The fraternity of Phi Gamma Delta was founded May 1, 1848, on the campus of the Old Jefferson College (now Washington and Jefferson) in Canonsburg, Pennsylvania. The first meeting of the "Delta Association," as it was originally called, was held in the dormitory room of John Templeton McCarty. Present at this historic gathering were five other brothers: James Elliott, Daniel Webster Crofts, Samuel Beatty Wilson, Ellis Bailey Gregg, and Naaman Fletcher, who together with McCarty comprise "The Immortal Six" of Phi Gamma Delta. Within the same year another chapter was founded and early expansion was southward, where most of the Washington and Jefferson students lived; from there it has built up chapters at major colleges and universities in most of the states of the Union. Today the international fraternity has a total of 88 chapters in the United States and Canada made up of 60,000 active and alumni members. It is considered to be one of the strongest fraternities in the country, both in membership and overall organization.

On October 23, 1919, the national Archons of Phi Gamma Delta granted a charter to the previously local Sewanee fraternity, Alpha Gamma Sigma. The newly created Fiji chapter, Gamma Sigma, grew rapidly until the Second World War caused all Sewanee fraternities to become inactive. However, Dr. James Thorogood, former chairman of the Sewanee Economics department, worked hard to get the Phi Gams back on their feet. The culmination of his efforts and those of Charles M. Boyd of Tracy City came in the completion of the new house two years ago. Mr. William B. Campbell, a newcomer to the Mountain, of the history department, was recently elected "Purple Legionaire," a position of great significance in Phi Gamma Delta. With such capable alumni leadership, modern facilities, and a strong national affiliation, Gamma Sigma Chapter of Phi Gamma Delta continues to retain its position of influence and leadership on the Sewanee campus.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

ELLIS NEDER
First Semester President

JIM STEWART
First Semester Vice-President

On the night of March 9, 1856, in an old Southern mansion at Tuscaloosa, Alabama, eight young men secretly met and formed what was to become the largest social fraternity in America. Thus was Sigma Alpha Epsilon founded at the University of Alabama.

It was through the extensive efforts of William B. Walker of Georgia Beta that a chapter at Sewanee was granted a charter in July of 1881; the initiation of seven men including General Edmund Kirby-Smith and William Alexander Guerry on August 20, 1881, marked the founding of Tennessee Omega at Sewanee.

Tennessee Omega was the first SAE chapter to have its own house. Now a national shrine, the house was built in 1886 and remodeled in 1957.

A large number of alumni today live on the Mountain, active in university and community affairs. Among these are Maurice Moore, Rev. C. F. Allison, Harry E. Clark, Dr. Henry Kirby-Smith, John B. Ransom, William Porter, Hugh H. Caldwell, Thomas Hunt, The Rev. G. Cecil Woods, and Stanford Barrett, Brother Harding C. Woodall was a Regent of the University. Guerry Auditorium and the Snowden Forestry Building are named for SAE alumni.

In the past brothers have been active in such student organizations as the Order of Gownsmen, the Discipline Committee, and the Honor Council. The SAE's are well represented in the athletic as well as the academic aspect of University life.

SIGMA NU

RICKY McIVER
First Semester President

KENNETH HENRY
First Semester Vice-President

Sigma Nu Fraternity was founded January 1, 1869, at Virginia Military Institute by Brothers Hopkins, Riley, and Quarles. From this small beginning, Sigma Nu has grown to over 130 national chapters and 75,000 members.

At Sewanee, Sigma Nu was founded in 1889. Dormant for a number of years, it was revived in the 1920's. Today Beta Omicron boasts prominent alumni in all walks of life.

Returning for Rush Week that netted thirteen pledges, the brothers of Beta Omicron found a completely remodeled house: new furniture, paint job, bathroom, panelling, and lighting have made the Sigma Nu house a popular meeting place for club initiations and University discussions and organizations.

But a house alone cannot make a fraternity; a fraternity stands on what it does. Since 1930, when Sigma Nus led intramural athletics competition for ten successive years, Beta Omicron chapter has been in competition for University trophies. This year the Snakes made strong showings in wrestling and swimming and finished basketball in a three-way tie for second place. Sigma Nu has always been strong academically. In the past six years, Sigma Nu has produced five Phi Beta Kappas and three semesters with the highest average on the Mountain. First semester 1964 saw the actives with the highest average at Sewanee and the complete chapter in the number two position.

In the field of public relations, Sigma Nu has a record that is the envy of every lodge on the Mountain. For . . . the last three years Beta Omicron has won the Blood Mobile and has won Help Week trophies. In . . . 1962 with the help of the Mountain residents the Chapter began an annual Christmas fête for underprivileged children in the area.

Finally let it be known to all concerned that Sigma Nu at Sewanee has always prided itself on its party weekends which are considered "the best on the Mountain."

THE ASSOCIATION OF INDEPENDENT MEN

JAMES HORNE
First Semester President

BILL STUART
First Semester Vice-President

The Association of Independent Men, a voluntary organization consisting of men who are not associated with any of the fraternities on the Mountain, this year entered the third year in its new house. The Association was founded in 1950, in great part because of the efforts of the late Bishop Hunter Wyatt-Brown; and in 1960, through the efforts of alumni of Sewanee fraternities, members of the AIM, and interested faculty members, the independent house itself was built.

Although the Association is a small organization, this fact does not discourage the members of the group, who always have prided themselves on their social activities and upon the atmosphere of friendly fellowship. This year, the social functions of A.I.M. have included several dances with bands, dinners, an honorary tea, and both cocktail and champagne parties. The Independents, as usual, competed in all the intramural activities, and finished with varying degrees of success, most notably in the individual competition.

The Association has always been maintained to a large extent by the efforts of the underclassmen members, and the upperclassmen take it as their personal responsibility and privilege to help the new students adjust themselves to Sewanee life. This year the Association has been active in maintaining its position not only as a center of social life, but also as one of the most respected organizations on campus. Plans are now underway for the improvement of both the interior of the house and the outside grounds. Next year should see much improvement in the appearance of the house at the foot of the hill below Hunter Hall.

INTER-FRATERNITY COMPETITION

Athletics are the primary means of inter-fraternity competition at Sewanee. Ten sports are involved; and the champion of each is awarded a trophy. Points are also awarded to the top four fraternities in the case of major sports, and the top three in the minor sports. Football, volleyball, basketball, track, and softball are the major sports. Competition is keen here, and the overall trophy for intramural supremacy is a highly coveted award.

Though they are the most important facet, athletics are by no means the only competition among chapters. The Blue Key Sing held every spring attracts choral groups from several chapters. Each fall the Red Cross bloodmobile visits Sewanee, and a cash prize is given to the chapter whose membership shows the greatest percentage of donors. And just this past year an intramural bridge tournament was organized to provide another element of competition.

Public Service projects are an important area of rivalry, especially during "Help Week." This consists of a major project done jointly by all fraternities, with the one contributing the most being awarded a prize by the Sewanee Women's Club. And there is also an overall award, the Leon T. Cheek Trophy, for outstanding contributions in the field of public service. In this field, chapter competition not only serves as an impetus for fraternities to show their superiority, but it also is accomplishing notable projects which benefit the entire Sewanee community.

The final area of competition is in the area of females—otherwise missing from the Sewanee scene. Homecoming queens and Miss Sewanee are selected through fraternity nominations and faculty judging. At the homecoming ceremonies a parade is also held, and awards are given for the best float and best house decorations.

ORGANIZATIONS

OFFICERS: Vice-President Duncan, President Stirling, Secretary Ferguson.

THE ORDER OF GOWNSMEN

The gown is the symbol at Sewanee of academic achievement and is worn by all upperclassmen who meet the necessary scholastic qualifications. The gown is worn to all classes and chapel services and is a constant reminder to all non-gownsmen of the excellence of Sewanee's intellectual atmosphere. A student loses his gown automatically once his average for a semester falls below the particular standard for each class, and with it he loses his unlimited cut privilege. This keeps every member concerned about his status, and each ardently strives to stay in good grace.

The Order was established in the tradition of Cambridge and Oxford at Sewanee in the 1870's, and the Order has continued to exist, function, and thrive ever since. Too often it is only a body that meets regularly and uses that time to be merely a sounding board of student opinion void of initiative or action; but when the students are aware of the potential power and prestige embodied in the Order, there is usually an increase in the significance of its existence.

The President has a real choice in the degree of his actions. It is so easy merely to be a figurehead, and then allow the gownsmen to fall into attitudes of apathy and complacency. This office carries a great responsibility as he should be the spokesman for the whole student body and be ready and anxious to assert the Gownsmen position to the administration. This can be done through editorials in the Purple, intimate contacts with the deans, a proximity to and awareness of student actions, and a proper manipulation of all standing committees.

THE PROCTORS

Early in its history, Sewanee followed the example of Oxford University and instituted a system of proctors to maintain and uphold the traditions and regulations of the University. The first proctor was an adult, Colonel Frank Sevier (C.S.A.), who was appointed in 1869. He served in effect as dean of men and peace officer to prevent rowdiness in the village as well as in the University. After eight years of service, Col. Sevier left the University and a system of student proctors was established. Known as assistant proctors, those students were on the University payroll and were directly responsible to the administration as are the proctors today.

The function of the proctors remains unchanged today. They are responsible for student conduct and the maintenance of order and tradition in the dormitories, the dining hall, the library, chapel, and on the campus in general. The proctors are available for student counselling and advice and serve as ushers in All Saints' Chapel. In the dormitory, each proctor selects, with the approval of the proctors and the Administration, an assistant proctor to aid in the dormitory duties. The incumbent proctors, at the end of the year, carefully nominate men to the Vice-Chancellor to be their successors.

The position of proctor requires one to accept great responsibility, but carries with it both honor and prestige. One who becomes a proctor has attained one of the highest positions a man can receive while attending Sewanee.

 JUNIORS: Woody Hannum, Doug Seiters, Frank Stubblefield, Secretary.

 FRESHMAN: Jody Smith.
 THEOLOG: Milton Wright.

The Honor System is one of the most respected traditions at Se-wanee. An Honor Code describes the ideals expected of the students and an Honor Council interprets the Code. If a student has violated the Honor Code, the Honor Council has the authority to demand his dismissal from the College.

The Honor Council is composed of three seniors and three juniors, each elected at the end of his sophomore year to serve for two years; one sophomore, elected at the end of his freshman year to serve for one year; one freshman elected in the fall of his first year to serve for one year; and one theological student.

The Honor Code makes possible a community based on mutual trust and makes each student conscious of his responsibility for his own acts. Because of this mutual trust and serious respect for the Code, examinations and quizzes are unsupervised.

Therefore, membership in the student body carries with it a peculiar responsibility for punctilious observance of those standards of conduct which govern an honorable man.

The primary functions of the Publications Board are to receive and approve nominations for the editors of the student publications of the College, to follow progress of the publications through the year, and to supervise the allocation of funds for these publications.

Six faculty members and two student representatives comprise the official body of the Board, but the editors and business managers of the three periodicals serve in an ex-officio capacity. Chairman of the Publications Board is Arthur Ben Chitty. Other faculty members are Charles O. Baird, William A. Griffin, Andrew Nelson Lytle, Maurice A. Moore, and Henry F. Arnold. The representative from the Junior Class and secretary of the Board is Jo Colmore. Allen M. Wallace is the representative from the Senior Class. Editors are Jerry Larry Mabry, THE CAP AND GOWN: Henry Dozier, The Sewanee Purple, Business Managers are Henry G. Carrison, John B. Hagler, and Douglas J. Milne.

The three University periodicals, running a combined budget of $11,000, are The Sewanee Purple, CAP AND GOWN, and the Mountain Goat.

THE MOUNTAIN GOAT

The Mountain Goat prides itself in being the "unofficial organ of the student body of the University." Started ages ago (nobody really knows exactly when, and nobody cares either), the Goat, as it is sententiously referred to by everybody except freshmen, has afforded a means by which students can have published, uncensored, their poetry and prose, be it in good faith and dedication or meant as a lampoon.

OF OUR NATURE . . .

Stephen Leacock once wrote a story on his impressions about a variety of one of the early "moving pictures." The projections were individual still shots changed rapidly and brusquely. During these showings, he says that he would have just focused his eyes and adjusted his thoughts to the actions when—click—the picture would change. Caught between the scene that had just passed and the brevity of the one then on the screen, he would finish by understanding neither of them and being perplexed by both.

Hopefully, an annual finds its savings grace in longevity, for off and on through the years the reader's eyes will probably return to these pages. It is as much for those times, if not more, that this book has been put together with whatever qualities make it different. Some of the value that this book may have will be appreciated immediately, for the story it tells certainly has an immediate personal link with the intended reader. However, there are also some thoughts within these pages which, while not particularly original, have been presented in a reflection which we hope will provoke future thought, and through thought, commitment.

For this reason we feel, somewhat like Stendhal, that we have taken a ticket in a lottery for which the drawing will not be held for many years to come.

THE SEWANEE PURPLE

The Sewanee Purple is in its seventy-first year as the student newspaper for the University. It is run by and for the students, doing valuable service as both a newsheet and a mouthpiece for complaints and suggestions by any member of the University community. The Purple is the heir of several publications here at Sewanee, such as the University Record, the Sewanee Times, and the Tiger. Most of these papers were under faculty supervision of sorts. The need for a newspaper run completely by the students prompted the late Rev. Louis Tucker of Mobile to suggest the founding of such a publication. He felt that such an arrangement would be an incentive to undergraduate participation and an encouragement for undergraduate talent.

There is a Publications Board composed of both faculty and students, which handles fiscal affairs and reviews editorial policy but which does not censor. Editors are never prohibited from printing any comment, but they may be called upon to defend its taste, if questionable. Editorial comments in the Purple have been responsible for a surprisingly large number of changes and additions here at the University. Although there is complete freedom of the press, it is surprising to learn that there have been relatively few attacks on the administration. There has been a commendable exercise of restraint and good taste in the paper's comments, seemingly the products of such freedom.

PHI BETA KAPPA

Phi Beta Kappa was founded on December 5, 1776, at the College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Virginia. It was the first society to have a Greek letter name, and with its beginning the basic characteristics of all such societies were introduced: secrecy oath (now abandoned), a badge, mottoes in Greek and Latin, a code of laws, an elaborate form of initiation, a seal, and a grip. Regular meetings were held at which the emphasis was placed on literary exercises. Social meetings were also held and the celebration of anniversaries. Many of these gatherings were held in the Apollo Room of the Raleigh Tavern in Williamsburg.

There are 160 chapters today, with a membership of over 141,000. Beta of Tennessee at The University of the South became the second chapter in the state and the one hundred and first in the nation with its formation in 1926.

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA

Omicron Delta Kappa, leadership honor society for men, was founded at Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Virginia, December 3, 1914. The founders conceived of a fraternity that recognized all-round leadership, representing men in all phases of college life which should cooperate in worthwhile endeavor and meet with mutual interest, understanding, and helpfulness.

Omicron Delta Kappa was the first college honor society of national scope to accord recognition and honor for meritorious leadership and service in extracurricular activities and to encourage the development of general campus citizenship. The emphasis for membership is placed on the development of the well-rounded man and high academic proficiency. The five major phases of campus life that the society recognizes and honors are: scholarship, athletics, social and religious affairs, publications, and speech, music, and dramatic arts.

At each college in North America there are a number of those students whose integrity and ability serve to develop and uphold the principles on which these schools stand. Having as their aim recognition of these students, a group of men in 1934 began to publish Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Today more than six hundred fifty colleges and universities in the United States and Canada are annually represented in this "atlas of collegiate leadership." Sewanee's nominations for Who's Who are made by the executive committee of the Order of Gownsmen. This committee selects students on personal character, academic excellence, and extracurricular achievement.

BLUE KEY

Blue Key was founded in 1923 at the University of Florida. It is a national honor fraternity composed of those men who have exemplified exceptional leadership ability and high character. Membership is determined in the fall and in the spring of the academic year on the criterion of scholarship, athletic achievement, and participation in student affairs. In addition, a candidate for membership must display a potential for future growth.

Blue Key sponsors a number of major activities at Sewanee among which are the Inter-Fraternity Blue Key Sing, the Homecoming Queen Contest, and the intramural All-Star football game. By collecting outstanding students into a single organization, which can then work for the best interest of Sewanee, the fraternity serves a valuable purpose in campus life.

THE GERMAN CLUB

The German Club is composed of two representatives from each fraternity and from the Association of Independent Men. This club is a University-sponsored organization which schedules and promotes party weekend dances. The German Club makes these colorful and enjoyable occasions by transforming Ormond Simkins Gymnasium into a decorated ball room.

Homecoming Week End the club sponsored The Contours. Mid-Winters was the occasion for one of the few formal functions sponsored by the German Club. Dance music was provided by the Down Beats from Ole Miss. and Leon Bibb, talented folk artist, gave an intermission show singing songs ranging from "Summertime" to "The Ballad of John Henry."

AIR FORCE RESERVE

The mission of the AFROTC is to provide future Air Force officers and future citizens with an education tailored to meet the demands of the Aerospace Age. It trains young men for service in the USAF as pilots, navigators, scientists and administrative officers. This is accomplished through four years of Air Science classes and leadership lab for all cadets. In addition, advanced corps cadets spend four weeks one summer (usually between the junior and senior years) at an Air Force Summer Training Unit. Cadets participate in parallel activities such as the Sabre Drill Team, the Arnold Air Society, and orientation flights to nearby Air Force installations. This year's seniors have seen the AFROTC Detachment increase in size to the largest it has been since 1955, with the end of the Korean War. In their four years, they have seen the membership of the Advanced Corps increase one hundred per cent and the size of the entire cadet corps increase by sixty-five per cent.

A significant feature of the AFROTC program is the number of graduate school deferments applied for and received by AFROTC graduates. Approximately fifty per cent of the graduates have received deferment for law school or other graduate work.

For the first time this year, a Sewanee AFROTC student has received the Commandant's Award at the Summer Training Unit in recognition of being chosen the top cadet there. Cadet Major Thomas Floyd received this honor last summer at McCoy AFB, Florida, by finishing first out of one hundred and forty-one cadets.

AFROTC Color Guard lends its decorum.

THE UNIVERSITY CHOIR

The University Choir and Glee Club had a very successful year under the direction of Mr. Joseph M. Running. During the fall semester the choir was primarily concerned with preparation for two Christmas concerts to be given in mid-December. The first of these was the annual Festival of Lessons and Carols performed in All Saints' Chapel. Though other various singing groups participated in the program, the University Choir provided the bulk of the performance which proved to be a great success. The following day the choir traveled to Chattanooga for a dual performance of Christmas music at the McCallie School and at St. Paul's Episcopal Church. The group was very well received at both places.

Many concerts were given during the spring semester after much preparation. There was a joint performance of Gauré's Requiem with the Sullins College Choir at Sewanee. Soon afterwards, the Glee Club made its annual spring tour, this year travelling through Tennessee, the Carolinas, and Virginia. The trip was a rewarding experience for the whole group.

Mr. Running directs the music.

An early PURPLE MASQUE rehearsal of George Bernard Shaw's Androcles and the Lion.

This year has been a particularly full one for theatrical productions at Sewanee. THE PURPLE MASQUE and the University Concert Series have staged several excellent performances in Guerry Auditorium. This year was also marked by the advent of a new society, the Sewanee Community Theatre. With such a full schedule the stage at Guerry has resounded to the words of everyone from Shakespeare and Shaw to Thomas Wolfe and Tom Jones.

THE PURPLE MASQUE opened the season in November with its production of Shaw's Androcles and the Lion, directed by Robert Weston and starring Larry Stevens, John Carey, Mike Napier, Linda Varnell, John Hisey, Dave Milling, Sarah Kirby-Smith, Doug Stirling, Bill Stirling, Nick Roggeveen, and Bill Elliott.

The University Concert Series, in addition to several recitals and "art" flicks, also presented a full-scale production of the Barber of Seville by the Turnau Opera Players in February.

The Sewanee Community Theatre gave several play readings for the town and students and in February presented its "piece de resistance" in The Fantasticks, which starred Larry Stevens, Wally Cowart, Dave Boone, Dale Harmon, Ann Parsons, Ken Martin, Mike Napier, and Gage Smith.

THE STAGE

The Turnau Opera Players gave us a superb performance of Rossini's The Barber of Seville.

Distinguished and delightful songs marked the first major production of the Sewanee Community Theatre in The Fantasticks.

DER DEUTSCHE VEREIN

Der Deutsche Verein, im 1958 mit grosser Begeisterung gegründet, hat als Hauptzweck die Benützung der deutsche Sprache und die Verbreitung des traditionellen Lebensweise von Mitteleuropa — das heisst, von Deutschland, von Österreich, und von der deutschsprachigen Schweiz. Deswegen folgen die Feste des Vereins getreu dem Rundgang der Jahreszeiten. Im Herbst, zum Beispiel, feiert man ein Erntefest; zu Weihnachten geniessen alle Mitglieder eine glühende Feuerzangenbowle; zur Fastenzeit und zu Ostern hört man einen Teil einer Bach-Passion oder einer Kantate; und am Ende des Schuljahres versammelt sich der Verein für eine lustige Abschlusskneipe — und immer und fortwährend klingen dabei die getrauten deutschen Lieder. Man singt sie gern, mit einem "Prosit der Gemütlichkeit" begleitet.

Wo böse Menschen sind,
Da gib't's kein' Lieder;
Wo man mit Liebe singt,
Da lass' dich nieder.

LE CERCLE FRANÇAIS

Chaque les deux semaines dans la cave de Guerry se réunit Le Cercle Français. Voilà le titre du groupe de ceux qui s'intéressent à la langue et aux moeurs de la France. Cette année le cercle, sous la direction de monsieur le Docteur Wilson-Jones, présente un programme de films, de diapositives, de lectures, de conférences, et de musique qui complémente le programme d'études des étudiants et des professeurs de Français. Chaque réunion se termine en petite soirée, permettant aux membres de parler Français en toute informalité entre eux. Les officiers pour l'année sont: King Young, président; Larry Mabry, vice-président; et Dan Griffith, trésorier.

EL CLUB ESPAÑOL

El Club Español es una organización comparativamente nueva en la Montaña y tiene como su propósito la promoción de la facilidad la lengua española.

Sus reuniones mensuales se conducen enteramente en español y con gran vigor según la tradición latina. Los programas tratan de una variedad de asuntos pero todos dan énfasis a la cultura española y latinoamericana. Una costumbre única recién iniciada es la de tener una comida española cada semestre.

Unos cuantos miembros del club pasaron el verano pasado en países de habla española y algunos están pensando en un viaje a la América del Sur para el el verano entrante.

DEBATE CLUB: Fears, Stokes, Hunt, Burns, Israel, Vehnekamp, Marsh.

DEBATE COUNCIL

Debating the proposition resolved: "That the Federal Government should guarantee the opportunity for higher education to all qualified high school graduates," members attended nine tournaments and won twenty-five individual and group awards.

Members won second place sweepstakes at Birmingham-Southern. In January, the squad again won a second place sweepstakes at Agnes Scott.

The group also attended tournaments at Emory, Harvard, Tennessee Tech, Southern Mississippi, Vanderbilt, the University of Tennessee, and Southern Speech in Houston. Individual awards included a first place in oratory for Bill Lee at the Tennessee State Tournament and top speaker ranking for Lacy Hunt at Southern Mississippi.

Officers are Richard Israel, president; Lacy Hunt, vice-president; Jay Fear, secretary-treasurer; and William Vehnekamp, historian. Ralph Marsh is coach and adviser to the group.

The Pre-Law Association of the University of the South is an organization maintaining as its end the bringing together of those upper classmen professing an interest in law. Though it is a student organization exclusively, both in membership and operation, it is guided by the able counsel of its faculty advisor, Dean Robert S. Lancaster, a practicing lawyer himself earlier in his career. Yet the actual affairs of the group are conducted by its student officers: President Al Schmutzer, Secretary Bill Stuart, and Treasurer G. P. Jones.

As one of the more active and sizable student organizations on the Sewanee campus, the Association has already enjoyed one of its social functions this year with a barbeque-beer party this past fall. About forty of its fifty dues paying members were on hand to join in the fellowship of Mr. Malcolm Foosee, a noted New York attorney and Sewanee alumnus, and to hear his enlightening talk on what to expect from a career in the law. A banquet is planned for the spring with an equally distinguished speaker on the agenda. A book on the law will be read by the members, and panel discussion will follow.

LOS PEONES

The Los Peones were organized, by chance, in 1948 when a train load of Sewanee men crashed over the side of the Mountain just above Cowan. The train was made up of men just expelled from school for swimming nude on Sunday morning in the Dean of Men's bird bath. The survivors, crazy drunk at the time, returned, realizing that they were maimed so badly that no one would recognize them. They decided to do one last bit of damage.

The worst thing that anyone could think of was to organize a drinking club in which members would wear Mexican garb and swing from trees yelling "Vive los." Since this propitious founding the club has thrived. Judging from this year's new members, the club will hang together for the duration of the semester, but probably will not last through next year.

THE WELLINGTON CLUB

The Wellington Club, a society of Peers of the Realm living in the colonies, is Sewanee's most original, colorful and selective drinking club. Membership is, of course, determined by aristocratic background traced to peerages created long before the Cromwell's apostasy. Blue capes bearing heraldic escutcheons of the various houses, bowlers, and umbrellas are the distinguishing features of dress. The stirring anthem "Lloyd George Knows My Father," sung in the strictest decorum, always causes a solemn hush in the halls. In last Fall's by-elections, the First Lord of the Treasury, Prime Minister William Stirling, the younger, held onto his majority in spite of gains by the Liberals in northern constituencies. The Rather Reverend Hillsville Ferguson, Archbishop of Canterbury, has asked God's blessing for the Wellingtons.

HIGHLANDERS

"WHEREAS, the appreciation, importation, interpretation, multilateralization, and self-actualization of Scottish customs and institutions among the student body, and

WHEREAS, the most respectful circumvention of University social rules has been masterfully manifested with due diligence, and

WHEREAS, the inveterate, invincible, and invocatory invoice of the Scottish organization has proved itself invulnerable to inward invective invasion,

BE IT RESOLVED THAT: the Highlanders, by virtue of their ubiquitous awareness of Scottish customs and institutions and their vehement resolve to live and practice according to the same, be accorded the highest virtue and honor obtainable at this University, in hopes that their perfect record of total intoxication be perpetuated from henceforth in exemplification of man's successful realization of utilitarianism,

SEWANEE JAZZ SOCIETY

In 1958, the Sewanee Jazz Society was formed by a group of students and faculty members with a common interest in jazz.

Since that time, the Jazz Society has been greatly successful in promoting the appreciation of jazz on the Mountain. The concerts are usually sponsored on the afternoons of party week-ends. People have been drawn from hundreds of miles to attend these concerts.

The Jazz Society takes pride in the fine artists they have had in the past. Among these artists are: Louis Armstrong, the Dave Brubeck Quartet, the Jimmy Guffree Quintet, the Modern Jazz Quartet, the Mose Allison Trio, and this year—the Cannonball Adderly Quintet. These accomplished artists have helped to make the Jazz Society a major group at Sewanee.

The Hudson-Stuck Chapter of the English-Speaking Union meets on the first Monday of every month from October to May at Bairwick, the home of Mrs. George Myers. The group hears an interesting talk on some aspect of Anglo-American affairs. Many of the speakers are imports from England and Scotland, some are our own professors who have returned from sabbatical leaves and share their experiences and slides with the group.

The English-Speaking Union in Sewanee was founded by Dr. George Herbert Clarke, then editor of The Sewanee Review and head of the English department, and Miss Sada Elliott. The Hudson Stuck Chapter, named for the Archdeacon of the Yukon, met for years at the home of Dr. Haskell DuBose.

The aim of this forty-five year old organization is "to draw together in the bond of comradeship the English-speaking peoples of the world." The ESU in this country has over 30,000 members in eighty-five chapters.

FORESTRY CLUB

The Sewanee Forestry Club was organized in 1959 with the purpose of stimulating an active interest in the enjoyment of outdoor life and to promote a better interest and understanding of the profession of forestry. Active membership is open to all forestry majors and affiliate membership is extended to any person who has professed sincere interest in the club. The facilities of the club include a club room in the Snowden Forestry Building and a sturdy cabin near the campus.

The activities of the club include various cook-outs at the cabin, camping trips and the annual trip to the Forestry Conclave. The officers first semester were E. McLellan, Bill Wheeler, and Buddy Wehman.

The Acolyte Guild of All Saints' Chapel is the organization that furnishes all the servers for the innumerable church services that are held during the year. This year sixty-five students volunteered to serve as acolytes to assist the clergy in the fifteen weekly church services held at All Saints' and Saint Augustine's Chapels plus special services.

Officers of the Acolyte Guild are elected for terms of one semester. It is their duty to train new acolytes and make sure that the proper number of servers are in attendance at each chapel service. David Whiteside was the first semester president and under his leadership the guild has had a good year.

VOLUNTEER FIRE DEPARTMENT

The Sewanee Volunteer Fire Department is composed of University students, with an interest in firefighting and a desire to safeguard the lives and property of the inhabitants of the Mountain. The department is responsible for the entire domain and surrounding area and is frequently called on to give assistance in outlying regions.

Under the leadership of Chief Jim Brown, the fire department operated admirably, receiving high commendation from University officials, the Sewanee Police Department, and the entire community. There were many instances in which the department controlled fires that, otherwise, would surely have resulted in disaster.

The department is made up of two teams: the red team and the blue team. The blue team members are the more experienced, and are the first to enter a fire.

The department has two trucks at its disposal, one with a two-way radio. The equipment is up-to-date and reliable, with no chances being taken endangering the safety of a fireman.

The Student Vestry, an elected committee of the Order of Gownsmen, is the advisory board for the University's religious life. Two seniors, two juniors, one sophomore, one freshman, one theological student, and one SMA cadet are elected annually to serve on the Vestry.

Monthly meetings are held with the Chaplain in order to coordinate the religious life of the University community. The Student Vestry sponsors various activities throughout the year such as the Lenten program, the Inquirer's Class, and the conferences with Morehouse. This year it has sponsored a student committee to study the Church University and to make recommendations to the University according to their studies. Also, the Vestry handles the finances of All Saints' and St. Augustine's Chapels and supports participation in Canterbury conferences and other similar conferences.

PI SIGMA ALPHA

Pi Sigma Alpha is the national political science honor society. There are 102 chapters established in colleges and universities of accredited and recognized standing which offer at least the prescribed minimum of work in political science. The Gamma Sigma Chapter was founded at the University of the South in 1958. The Society receives into membership students of all departments regardless of their membership in other social or honorary organizations, when such students attain high standards of scholarship and academic distinction both in political science and in the whole of their academic work. Faculty members teaching political science and related fields are also eligible for membership. Student membership in the Society is conferred upon no basis of selection other than that of scholastic achievement. A limited number of honorary memberships, based on attainments in public service, are awarded to persons in civic or governmental life.

Pi Gamma Mu, national honorary social science fraternity, was founded in 1924. Today it is an international organization with over one hundred chapters and six thousand members in the United States, Canada, and the Philippines. Tennessee Beta, the Sewanee chapter, received its charter in 1930. Eligibility for membership requires that a student complete at least twenty semester hours in the social sciences with a grade average of 3.00 or better. In addition, a candidate for membership must be in the upper thirty-five percent of his class.

SOPHERIM

The numerical participation in Sopherim—the mother chapter of the first national literary fraternity—reflects the magnitude of verbal creation at Sewanee. Present membership: five. Four of last year's six members departed as a result of graduation, failure, or the like, and after their demise the two remaining literati, in true democratic fashion, flipped a coin to determine which offices each should hold. Bill Byrnes had a two-headed coin and thus became president; Henry Dozier, resenting his loss, declined the treasurer-ship, but, with the spirit typical of Sopherim, acquiesced to become secretary. In heated debate these two deadly enemies compromised in the acceptance of three applicants: Rick York, Ed Francisco, and Don Rossmore. It was decided that these three met the prime requirement of unintelligible poetry.

Being anti-organizational by nature, Sopherim has held only informal bull sessions, with, of course, the necessary varieties of C_2H_5OH . In passing, the Dionysian bards bid ecstatic bibation to all.

Sigma Pi Sigma is a national honor society whose objectives are awarding distinction to students having high scholarship and promise of achievement in physics, promoting student interest in research and the advanced study of this science as well as bringing students and professors in close association. It was founded as a local honor organization at Davidson College, North Carolina, on December 11, 1921. Since then it has progressed to a truly national scope with more than 118 active chapters.

The University of the South chapter of Sigma Pi Sigma was installed May 26, 1958, with a total of twenty-four charter members composed of both professors and students. Present chapter membership totals forty-five actives and alumni members.

SEWANEE TIGERS: UNDEFEATED AND UNTIED

This year's edition of the Sewanee Tigers' football team proved to be one of the finest in the history of the school. From the beginning of the season it was evident that they were good: just how good became more and more apparent as the season went along.

By the end of the season Sewanee had defeated eight teams in a row to nail down its fourth undefeated and untied season in the history of the school and the second such season in the last six years. This brought national recognition to the team and to the school. Coach Majors was regional Small College Coach of the Year, and tailback M. L. Agnew was named to the first team Little All-American team.

Agnew led the team in many departments. While leading the team, however, he was also leading the College Athletic Conference statistics. He gained 835 yards in 145 carries for a 5.8 yard average. He completed 60.3 percent of his passes with 32 out of 53 for another 507 yards while having only four intercepted. Agnew scored 10 touchdowns and passed for 7 more. He led the team on kickoff returns, running back 11 for 256 yards, a 23.3 yard per runback average. It is easy to see why Agnew was considered to be one of the nation's four finest small college backs.

The Tigers, however, were not a one man team. There were many outstanding players on this team, Larry Majors did a fine year alternating at tailback and wingback. Ray Tucker was outstanding at fullback. The line was anchored by such stalwarts as Jim Cofer, Frank Stubblefield, Jim Stewart, Bill Bertrand, Morgan Ray, Danny Thornton, Bob Rice (the only remaining veteran of the 1958 undefeated and untied season), Wilbur Wood, and Bob Davis. John Semmer spent the year as the unsung but indispensable quarterback on this single-wing team. Phil Condra, the extra-point man, kicked 33 of the 36 tries.

The Tigers had power and scoring punch. This is shown by the fact that they scored 310 points in an eight-game season, averaging 38.75 points per game. The Tigers hit their scoring peak against Hampden-Sydney when they scored 49 points. Sewanee was held to its lowest scoring level in the last game of the season against Washington University of St. Louis when they were held to only 14 points.

The Tiger defenses were also very strong. They gave up only 46 points for the season for an average of 5.75 points per game. The Tiger defense held Millsaps, Hampden-Sydney, Randolph-Macon, and Southwestern scoreless. They gave up one touchdown each to Centre College and Washington and Lee University. The team running up the highest score against the Tigers was Austin College. They managed to score 19 points but still lost as the Tigers scored 39.

End Bob Davis was captain of this year's squad. Jim Cofer, M. L. Agnew, and Larry Majors were the alternate captains of the squad.

It was a season to remember. From the beginning when Sewanee rolled over Millsaps 27-0, to Homecoming when the Tigers ripped Randolph-Macon 48-0, to the end when they had the struggle of their lives against Washington University—who of us who were here will ever forget this season? The 1963 Tigers joined the immortal great teams of 1898, 1899, and 1958.

SEWANEE 27

MILLSAPS 0

In the season's debut on September 28, the Tigers swept down out of their mountain lair to pounce upon Millsaps College 27-0, at Jackson, Mississippi. M. L. Agnew completed five of his six pass attempts for 105 yards and accounted for another 81 yards rushing—more than the entire Millsaps backfield, who together netted but 69 yards on the ground for their afternoon's work. Agnew had a lot of help from his forward wall. Junior guard Jim Stewart, the fastest man in the Tiger line, was a defensive stalwart. Sophomore Dan Upton, a tackle, snagged one of the two interceptions that began Tiger scoring drives. Fleet senior wingback Larry Majors hauled in the other to set up the first Sewanee marker.

SEWANEE 49 HAMPDEN-SYDNEY 0

With Agnew again blazing the way, the Tigers rolled over Hampden-Sydney 49-0, the following Saturday in their season's opener at Hardee Field. In a medley each of Sewanee's seven touchdowns was scored by a different gridders making sophomore Phil Condra the high point man with a perfect seven for seven in the point-after-kicking department. The first marker came on a 25-yard sweep by Agnew, who wound up the afternoon with 148 yards rushing. Fullback Ray Tucker, in the first play of the second half, took the ball on a draw and galloped 62 yards in the afternoon's most dazzling run which saw the Tigers amass 468 yards on the ground and another 65 on six Agnew aeriels.

SEWANEE 39

AUSTIN 19

On October 11, the Mountainmen flew to Texas for their game the following afternoon with the Austin College Kangaroos. Only the year before Austin had spoiled the Tiger Homecoming with a narrow 10-7 victory. But this time it was to be a different story. In the hot Texas weather the Kangaroos scored first; in fact, they were the first team to score on the Tigers—period. But the Texans could not begin to match the high-powered Sewanee single-wing offensive. The redoubtable M. L. Agnew scored three of Sewanee's six markers, connected on two of his three pass attempts, and racked up 128 yards rushing. Wingback Majors checked in with the longest run of the afternoon (70 yards), as he ground out 127 yards rushing, picked off the only errant Austin aerial which Tigers could get their hands on, and hit on his one pass attempt for 26 yards—and a TD.

SEWANEE 48 RANDOLPH-MACON 0

In their homecoming contest on October 19 before the largest crowd ever packed into Hardee Stadium—and virtually every letter winner on the great undefeated and unbeaten team of '58 which had reassembled for the contest—the Tigers trounced their second Virginia victim, Randolph-Macon, 48-0. Senior tackle Bob Rice—one of the few players indeed who can boast about having been on TWO undefeated, untied teams during his collegiate career (he was on the '58 team, too, before entering the service)—set up the first Tiger tally with his alert fumble recovery late in the first quarter. Again PAT kicking specialist Phil Condra had a perfect afternoon to bring his total to 19 out of 21 boots.

CENTRE 7

Before nearly 3,000 disappointed Homecoming fans at Danville, Kentucky, on October 26, the rampaging Purple turned a Centre fumble and two pass interceptions into Tiger markers as they smashed Centre 35-7. Agnew was again the big offensive gun as he chalked up 131 yards total offense, a 38-yard kickoff return, a TD aerial, and a dazzling 47-yard pass interception return to the Colonel's one-yard line to set up the first Sewanee touchdown.

SOUTHWESTERN 0

With a 5-0-0 record the Tigers journeyed westward to take on Southwestern at Memphis in their second College Athletic Conference contest in Hodges Field the following Saturday. It was a pretty even battle during the first half. A generous breach on the right side and a bit of foot wizardry by Agnew netted 17 yards and the only score. The second half was an altogether different affair. While the Tiger forward wall continued to bar Southwestern's door, the Sewanee offense mustered a KO combination in Agnew, Majors and Tucker. Held to 46 yards rushing in the first half, the Tigers checked in with 157 in the second while the Lynx, who had managed 56 yards in the first half, had a loss of 10 in the second for a game net of 46 yards. Tucker scored twice and Majors zeroed in on sophomore wingback Bill Johnson for a 48-yard TD aerial in a game which saw the Tiger's only two-point conversion, a Tucker plunge. Condra twice split the goalposts dead center as the Mountainmen came out on the long end of a 28-0 score.

SEWANEE 35

WASHINGTON AND LEE 6

On November 9 the Purple gridders returned to Hardee Field to flatten their seventh victim 35-6, archrival Washington and Lee. With barely four minutes gone in the game, Captain Bob Davis swooped down on a careening General fumble on the opponent's 18, and three plays later Tucker bulled his way over from two yards out. As usual Agnew was the biggest single cog in the Tiger single wing machine. Contributing not only 162 yards in total offense including a touchdown, a paydirt aerial, and eight hits in eleven pass attempts; he also had a 20-yard pass interception return and two sparkling kickoff returns of 37 and 26 yards to his credit.

WASHINGTON 13

The Tigers hosted power-laden Washington University of St. Louis in their champion finale on November 16. The Missourians' only defeat had been a narrow loss to the fourth ranked (at the time) small college defensive team in the nation. Both teams scored on long sustained drives the first time they gained possession of the ball. From then on the battle was primarily defensive, with neither team able to go all the way until late in the fourth quarter when the visitors ground out their second touchdown. The fact that they missed their conversion was little consolation to many. But a tremendous kick-off return by Agnew to midfield brought Tiger partisans almost immediately to their feet and with less than two and a half minutes to go in the game, Agnew flashed into the coveted end zone to tie the game 13-13. Phil Condra split the uprights with his most important PAT of the season, giving the Tigers the win, the CAC Championship, and an undefeated season.

BASKETBALL

An extremely young Tiger basketball team waded through a tough schedule to wind up the season with an even 10-10 record. But for a couple of bad breaks, they might have done much better. When the team reported for practice, there were two freshmen who had never played college ball before, and only three boys with more than just a little varsity experience.

Bob Swisher paced the team in scoring with 334 points for a 16.7 average. Eight times he hit the 20 mark, and he was held under double figures four times. Bob Taylor, who transferred at the end of the semester, had a 14.0 average for the 13 games in which he played. But the freshmen really played some excellent games as both wound up with double figure averages. Tom Ward wound up at 13.1, and he also led the team in rebounds with 203 for a 10.2 average. Larry Cunningham finished at 11.9, and he paced the team in both field goal percentage (.480) and free throw percentage (.363). Junior Forward Sandy Lumpkin was the number two rebounder with 125 while Swisher had 113. For the season, Sewanee scored 1,344 points to 1,340 for its opponents.

SWIMMING

The swimming team began the year with 13 members, the smallest since the first year Sewanee had a team, little depth, and much inexperience. When the season had run its course, however, the team had posted a fine 7-4 won-lost record against some very tough competition.

The Tigers had two wins over Tulane and one win over Emory, Georgia Tech, Kentucky, Union College, and Louisville. The Tiger's losses came at the hands of a powerful University of Florida team, Vanderbilt, Georgia, and Alabama.

There were many outstanding swimmers on the squad. Diver Grant LeRoux took first place in ten out of eleven meets and came in second in the other one. Freshman Terry Goodwin broke the school record in the 200-yard backstroke and proceeded to break his own record several more times as the season progressed. Another freshman, Rick Clewis, broke the school record in the 200 Individual Medley. Other school records were broken by Al Sherer in the 200-yard freestyle, the 400-yard medley relay team, and the 400-yard freestyle relay team.

High point man for the team was Terry Goodwin with 54.4 points scored for the season. Grant LeRoux was second high with 53.0 points scored for the season.

With a little help from next year's freshman class, Sewanee could have a very fine team and a tremendous season. Depth will probably once again be a chief problem to Coach Bitondo and his boys.

WRESTLING

The wrestling team this year was a fairly young team. It was a team bolstered by freshmen in key weights. The season was a disappointing one from the standpoint of the team's won-loss record which was three wins and five losses.

Sewanee's wins were at the expense of Emory, Maryville College, and Eastern Kentucky. The Tigers lost to Auburn, Chattanooga, Georgia, and Georgia Tech (twice). This was a tough schedule and under the circumstances the Tigers did quite well.

Captains for the Sewanee team were Paul Tessman and Doug Seiters. The high point man for the team was Joe Parker with 30 points. Paul Tessman was second high with 28 points and Tim Hughes was third high with 23 points.

Joe Parker was undefeated in the regular season and came in second only in the pre-season Chattanooga Invitational Meet. Paul Tessman came through the season undefeated, winning thirteen out of thirteen matches. Both Parker and Tessman took first places in the Southeastern Meet. Other men placing in this meet were Chip Langley who placed third in the 191-pound class and Tim Hughes who placed fourth in the 177-pound class. Sewanee's showing in this meet was good enough to gain the Tigers fifth place in a ten team meet.

Freshmen played a big part on the team. John Mitchell filled the 123-pound class, Tres Mast the 130-pound class, Chip Langley the 191-pound class, and Hank Beaumont was the man in the heavyweight class. A transfer student, Bucky Wood, filled in the 138-pound class.

There were only three Sewanee lettermen who returned to the team this season. They were Doug Seiters in the 147-pound class, Paul Tessman in the 167-pound class, and Tim Hughes in the 177-pound class.

The spirit and determination shown by this young team this season raises the hopes for next season when the majority of the members will return with a year's experience under their belts. The only senior on the team this year was Tim Hughes. The loss of one good man in one particular division will be a lot easier to fill than it would if half the team were to graduate.

TRACK

M. L. Agnew on the discus.

This year's track team will face the toughest schedule that Coach Horace Moore has ever put together for them, and they will have their work cut out for them if they are to have a successful year. Having already lost through illness the school and C.A.C. record holder in the two mile, Jack Fretwell, along with losses in the dash events the team will be hard pressed to match last year's second place finish in both the T.I.A.C. and C.A.C. meets in May.

Captain M. L. Agnew will lead the squad in the weight events, but he will get help from returnees Ted and Jim Waters. Reggie Daves will be the mainstay in the broad jump, but the other jump events will be weak.

Record holders Billy Hoole in the high hurdles and John Scott in the dash events, along with returnees Doug Seiters and Vic Stanton, will provide most of the punch in the track events. Bill Johnson in the dash events and Jo Colmore in the relays and pole vault will be counted on heavily. But there will have to be some surprises if this team is able to finish high in the Conference meet in May.

CROSS COUNTRY

The University of the South had given up the sport of Cross Country five years ago because of a lack of interest. However, this fall, the University had a team, thanks to the combined efforts of nine men, athletic director Walter Bryant, and coaches Webb and Read. Over a shortened season the new team posted a creditable 1-2 record in dual meet competition and finished a strong fourth in the T.I.A.C. meet at Jackson, Tennessee.

Coming from the back of the "V" are John May, Derrill Wright, Jeff Brown, Dean Webb, Bruce Aldrich (captain),

BASEBALL

The fortunes of this year's Tiger baseball team depends to a great extent on the strength of its pitching staff. This staff is led by senior hurler Dick Nowlin and sophomore Al Sherer.

Sewanee's offensive attack will be bolstered by Jim Kolling and Richard Ide. Kolling and Ide both play the outfield.

Pitchers Al Sherer and Dick Nowlin.

Frank Stubblefield will probably hold down the other outfield position and should be of great help at the plate.

Harrell Harrison and Phil Condra are the only starters returning to the infield. They will be backed up by Dale Reich and Bob Swisher, both of whom saw limited action last season. The catching position will probably go to Dick Sims.

Much of the success of the team will depend on how well the pitching staff can be bolstered and how well the infield can be strengthened by the less experienced men.

Swisher takes a swing at the ball during spring practice. Dick Sims is behind the plate.

FELIX PELZER
Captain

The new indoor tennis court, named for Charlotte Guerry, is slated for completion in early summer.

TENNIS

The 1964 tennis team, under Dr. Gaston Bruton, will be faced with a very tough schedule this year. It includes SEC foes Alabama, Georgia, and Vanderbilt, plus several smaller college teams.

Having lost only one man from last year's team, the squad is looking forward to a successful year. Sophomore Frank Jones will probably be playing in the number one position followed by Tom Rowland. "Smokey" Joe Harrison, "Diamond Jim" Folbre, Felix Pelzer, and John Bondurant. John Vander Horst, Jay Gwinn, and Freshman Mark Davenport will be pushing hard for the lower positions. The doubles teams have not been decided upon, but Jones and Rowland will probably be playing number one.

The team is expecting its fourth straight TIAC victory and is hoping to better last year's second place in the CAC tournament.

GOLF

Coach W. Bryant feels that this year the Sewanee golf team looks much stronger than it has in many years. Sparky Saltsman is this year's Captain, returning from last year's number one position. Sewanee has six previous lettermen trying out for the team; Saltsman and John Capers, both Sophomores, Peter Phillips and Rich Braugh, returning Juniors, and Jim Wimer and Ed Taylor, both Seniors. Along with this number a great deal is expected from Freshmen Bobby Boswell, Sam Marynick, and Jim Lawhon.

THE "S" CLUB

Sewanee's "S" Club is composed of the lettermen of the nine intercollegiate sports in which the University competes.

The "S" Club boasts seven students who have been initiated into Phi Beta Kappa and nine athletes are proctors of the dormitories. Members of the sports lettermen contingent are leaders in student governing affairs, holding membership in the Order of Gownsmen.

Bob Davis, captain of the undefeated, untied College Athletic Conference football champions, is the club president for the school year. Dan Duncan, vice-president, and Phil Frontier, secretary-treasurer, are the other officers.

Though a rather loosely knit organization, the "S" Club is one of the Mountain's few profit-making groups. Lettermen sell programs and refreshments at the football games and serve as ushers during basketball season.

At the school term's end, "S" Club members select the Outstanding Senior Athlete who is presented with an engraved watch at the annual "S" Club barbeque.

Intramural sports at Sewanee again played one of the major roles in extracurricular activity in 1963-64. Once again ATO and Phi Delta Theta continued to dominate, but are being challenged by Delta Tau Delta.

The Delts moved into first place with a close first in the intramural swimming meet. Rick Clewis, soon to pace the varsity team and Bill Tucker took individual point honors. The Belas with 43 points were one point behind the Delts, followed by the ATOs with 42 and Sigma Nus with 38. BTP set a new record in the 200-yard freestyle relay, and the ATOs broke the old 200-yard medley record.

The intramural football race proved to be one of the most exciting races in several years, with the powerhouses, ATO, DTD, and PDT squaring off in a contest that was eventually decided in a sudden-death overtime in a playoff for the championship. The Phis were unbeaten and untied and the ATOs were unbeaten but twice tied when the two teams met for the first time. It was the Taus who came out on top 13-6 in this first struggle. The Delts, at this point, had fallen by the wayside. Thus the scene was set for the "game of the year" as the Phis and ATOs met in the playoff game for the Championship. The ATO's dominated the regular part of the game but with superb defense Lencho Dicus made a leaping, tumbling catch of a pass from Jim Uden in the second overtime quarter to give the Phis a 6-0 win and 40 intramural points. Final team standings were PDT, ATO first and second respectively, followed by DTD, BTP, and PGD.

The Delts forged into first place in overall standings by means of their second straight cross-country title. It was John Dawson of LCA, however, who took individual honors by running the 2½ mile course in a fast 13:35. The Phis took second, followed by LCA, BTP, and ATO.

The ATO's put themselves back into contention for the intramural crown by winning the volleyball championship with a perfect record. The Delts and the Phis finished second and third respectively, keeping the race a close contest among the "big three" of Phi, Delt and ATO. At this point the Delts led the race with 75 points, and Phis had 70, and the ATOs 65. The closest competition was Beta with 37½ intramural points.

Delts edge out Betas for swimming trophy.

With heavy scoring in track, basketball, and handball, the Phis surged ahead in the intramural race. Led by Jack Royster and Guy Dotson, the Fijis took the basketball race rather handily. The Phis, however, garnered 20 points with a second-place finish, followed by the Sigma Nus and Betas. The Phi Dels also took a second in handball leading the Kappa Sigs and following the Delts. As an added attraction to the intramural scene, an All-Star basketball team played league champion, Phi Gamma Delta.

The intramural track meet again turned out to be a duel between the Phis and ATOs. ATO salvaged a tie in the 380 relay to hold first place with the Phis at 105½ points. Sigma Nu took third in the meet, paced by distance man Rick McIver. The next three places were taken by the Betas, Fijis, and KAs. Jim Meyer was practically a one-man team for the SAEs taking 22 points single-handedly. It was depth, though, that provided for the top three spots.

With golf, tennis, badminton, and softball still to be played, Phi Delta Theta has run up a considerable margin in the overall standings. The Phis stand strong with 130 points, distantly followed by ATO and DTD tied for second place with 95 points each. BTP and PGD are fourth and fifth respectively, but it is highly unlikely that these two teams will upset the present standings. For either ATO or DTD to come out on top they must allow the Phis no more points and win softball.

FEATURES

André Malraux was born in Paris November 3, 1901, was educated at the Lycée Condorcet, and later studied languages and archeology at the Paris School of Oriental Languages. After an archeological voyage to Indochina in 1923, he became a political agitator in China, and from his experiences there came his first novels: Les Conquérants, 1928; La Voie royale, 1930; and La Condition humaine, 1933. for which he was awarded a Goncourt Prize. From a trip to Spain in 1936 came L'Espoir, a novel proceeding from the Civil War. In WWII he served in the French tank corps, and was captured in 1939 and 1944 but escaped both times. After the war he became a chief spokesman for deGaulle's R.P.F. party, and was twice Minister of Information before becoming Minister of Cultural Affairs, his present title. It is he who is responsible for the loan of the Mona Lisa to America last year. His art criticism has been extensive, but culminates in Les Voix du silence (The Voices of Silence), which integrates all art with the cultures that bore it. This work has been hailed as the most significant art interpretation of our century. It is for his love and knowledge of art that Monsieur Malraux was chosen to judge this year's Miss Sewanee Contest. What better judge of beauty?

ANDRÉ MALRAUX

MINISTÈRE D'ÉTAT

Affaires Culturelles

Le Chef de Cabinet

3, RUE DE VALOIS, PARIS 1.

Dear Mr. YOUNG,

Much as I would like, as I always do, to answer an American correspondent in the language of Shakespeare (and Walt Whitman) I am nevertheless compelled to refrain from doing so, since what you choose to call your "français atroce" is really extremely pure. You have practiced in your letter what is known as "Chinese politeness", as a reminder of the times when the Chinese were polite . . .

M. Malraux a été très amusé par votre lettre, qui l'a heureusement changé pendant quelques minutes du courrier beaucoup plus austère qu'il a l'habitude de recevoir. Il a marqué son choix, comme demandé, par les numéros 1,2 et 3. Il vous envoie également sa photo et son autographe. Mais il ne peut pas trouver le temps d'expliquer son choix.

Although you did not ask me for my own choice, here it is: I place first the photo I marked "A" second the photo "B" and third the photo "C". But the "also ran" are also very pretty indeed. Solomon himself would have been at a loss to deliver a sound judgement. Good thing for him that he passed away long before the University of the South was founded.

May I state that I have very old links with your State. In 1917, when I was still young, the war was raging on and I had to go to Le Havre. There I had my first glimpse of the USA at war. There was a USN cruiser in the harbor, whose name was TENNESSEE.

Of course, this has absolutely nothing to do with the topic of your letter, which was infinitely more pleasant. But maybe that remembrance will lead you to forgive me for my gross intrusion in your correspondence with the Minister.

Sincerely,

Marcel BRANDIN
Secretary to M. Malraux

Miss CAROL GLISSON
1963 Homecoming Queen

1963 HOMECOMING WEEKEND

Miss Carol Glisson stands with her date, Allen Strawbridge, after being crowned Homecoming Queen for 1963.

Parades, parties, and pretty girls combined with cloudless skies made this year's Homecoming Week End the most festive in many years. Under the auspices of the German Club the dog was danced in a style that would put even Rin Tin Tin to shame. The Germans featured the Contours and the Majors with minor difficulties. Beta Theta Pi won the float competition and shortly afterward the Sewanee Tigers defeated Randolph-Macon's Yellow Jackets by a track meet score of 48-0.

The highlight of the weekend came with the Homecoming Queen competition. The winner for 1963 was the pretty Miss Carol Glisson, a Chi Omega sophomore from the University of Tennessee, Martin Branch. She was escorted by Allen Strawbridge and represented the Kappa Sigma Fraternity. Miss Glisson won over eleven other young ladies in the annual pageant.

Midnight . . . the band's gone, the liquor's out, and we've got 'till three o'clock.

Hey Tisdale! Your date's not wearing a bra!

. . . and afterwards we smoked.

One class at Sewanee and a girl's whole weekend is ruined.

That feline is just too far away!

Ed. note: we refused 10,000 guilders for this picture.

We are proud to announce that the 1964 Nobel Prize for Architecture has been awarded to Father and Mrs. Lumpkin.

Did you see Abbo's face when he found that fly we put in his soup?

Okay, I'm gonna count to ten, an' if you don't say "howdy"
I'm gonna knock your head eleecean off.

Okay Boot—, I mean, Dr. Moore, we'll go through it one more time. If you have two apples, and I give you two apples . . .

Uh-hunh . . . don't expect to pass!

As a yearbook editor, wouldn't you like—

✓ complete creative art assistance in planning and designing your book

✓ actual known production performances (by records) of substantially less than 10 weeks, as required by most yearbook manufacturers. No contract claims, either, of an additional 4 days on delivery for each 1 day any deadline is missed

✓ an association with a firm who has specialized in designing yearbooks perhaps longer than any other company

✓ our insistence of your reading and checking page proofs to avoid (or at least minimize) possible glaring errors in the completed edition

✓ an all out effort to please you in design, quality, and service at competitive prices

What more could you ask?
